

De-Escalation Training

WHO WE ARE

Broad Street Ministry is an organization that helps Philadelphians living in deep poverty stabilize their lives through a unique offering of meals and social services that is welcoming to everyone. Our long term vision is to meaningfully reduce the trauma and suffering caused by scarcity for Philadelphia's most vulnerable populations. With best-of-class social services and government partners, we are committed to working towards breaking the cycle of poverty, homelessness and hunger in Philadelphia.

OUR APPROACH

Broad Street Ministry (BSM) employs trauma aware psycho-social de-escalation tactics to reduce anxiety and prevent the escalation of conflict. This de-escalation model was developed as an alternative to the surveillance and policing that our guests experience outside of our doors. It addresses the correlation between escalated behaviors and triggers (among staff and guests), breaks down how staff strengths can be utilized during escalated situations, and creates a safe environment without engaging in traditional security tactics.

In addition to regular de-escalation trainings for our entire BSM staff, we have created a De-escalation Team whose singular role is to help mitigate crises through relationship building and preemptive interception through observation.

OUR TRAININGS

This training was developed by Geremi James, Broad Street Ministry's Chief Program Officer. Geremi received her Master's in Social Work from Temple University and has been practicing clinical social work in Philadelphia for over a decade.

Trainings are offered to partner agencies and are facilitated by members of our Concierge and De-escalation teams. Each instructor has prepared under Geremi's supervision and has experience in utilizing De-escalation in the work place.
